COUNTIES ADVISED TO ABOLISH SCHOOL BOARDS

Dynamite Bomb Found In Oakland Residence

BLAST MIGHT HAVE CAUSED FIVE DEATHS

OAKLAND, March 22.—A dynamite bomb that police believe, if set off, might have brought death to five persons and wrecked a neighborhood was found in the wall of a house at 2003 Hopkirk street, Oakland, yesterday. The house is the home of Mrs. R. D. Provenal, her two sons, a daughter and two young boarders. Workmen repairing a hole in the wall found the bomb.

Plans and specifications for the proposed new $250,000 municipal dock were yesterday inspected by members of the city council and City Manager McVittie. The plans were prepared by H. J. Bousler, San Francisco engineer.

It was announced by City Manager McVittie that the plans would be formally submitted to the council next Monday evening for official action. It is understood that the present specifications were found to be satisfactory.

Investment by the city of $250,000, will bring an investment of a similar amount by the Parr Terminal corporation.

Mrs. Provenal believes the bomb was placed Monday night when she was disturbed by a noise outside the house. Police think the man who placed it climbed a cherry tree to the hole, ten feet from the ground, but was frightened away before he could light the fuse.

The bomb was made of a gas pipe into which two sticks of dynamite had been stuffed. Firecrackers, with Chinese punk wrapped around the fuses, were to have set off the charge. The dynamite was crumbly with age, the wrappers being saturated with nitroglycerine from the dynamite. Kyle declared the bomb was the work of someone familiar with explosives.

Richmond Elk, Walnut Creek Mayor, Is Dead

WALNUT CREEK, March 22.—Harry P. Spencer, first mayor of Walnut Creek and a prominent business man here for the past 18 years, died at midnight at his home after a long illness.

Spencer was taken to an Oakland hospital some time ago but he failed to improve in health and a week ago was brought home to await the end which his wife and sons had been expecting almost hourly for several days.

Harry Spencer was born in South Berwick, Maine, and was 71 years of age. In 1910 he returned to Walnut Creek where he engaged in the lumber business. He was instrumental in bringing about the incorporation of Walnut Creek and was rewarded with being named the first mayor, a position which he held for eight years until he retired from the city council. He was a past master of Alamo Lodge No. 122, F. and A. M., past patron of Almona Chapter No. 214, O. E. S., a member of the Richmond lodge of Elks and the Livermore Camp, Woodmen of the World. He was also the first president of the Lions Club here.

The body is at the Harlan chapel here where it will remain until noon Saturday to be then taken to the Masonic temple where services will be conducted at 1:30 o'clock. Sam Bell, Worshipful Master of Mt. Diablo Lodge of Concord will conduct the Masonic memorial service and at the California Crematorium in Oakland where incineration will take place, Rev. Otis Lynn will officiate.

Deceased leaves a widow, Mrs. Mae Spencer, and two sons, Guy F. Spencer, fire chief of the Central Fire District, and Raymond Spencer, associated with his father in the lumber business here.

Held On Charge Of Stealing Auto

Mario Morotti, 20, El Cerrito, is being held by authorities at Martinez to await arraignment on a charge of grand theft in connection with the theft of a large sedan owned by Grover Milnes, business manager for the Record-Herald. Morotti insists that another youth stole the car and induced him to go for a ride, the machine being subsequently wrecked.

PREPARES FIRE MAP

John Sherwood, member of the El Cerrito Fire Department, is preparing a new fire map of the city in which will be incorporated the location of 104 hydrants for the information of El Cerrito residents.

NEW LIGHTS ON AVENUE MADE STREET PLAN

To add impetus to a movement launched recently by the Richmond Merchants Association, high voltage lights were yesterday installed on the standards between 8th and 9th streets on Macdonald. The installation was made by the Pacific Gas & Electric company, the voltage being raised from 1600 per block to 9000 volts.

The marked improvement in the lighting was noticed last night, and this move, is expected to pave the way for the circulation of a petition among the merchants calling for the installation of equally powerful lights the length of Macdonald avenue. As soon as the necessary number of signatures are affixed to the petition it will be submitted to the city council for action.

The better lights campaign was born of the belief that the present system, installed in 1921, had become antiquated and does not fill present needs. Under the plans formulated by the Merchants Association, the cost per front footage along the avenue would be $15 per year or $125 a month, and the association is hopeful that the merchants will rally to the project in view of the wide advantages of a better lighting system and the comparative small expense involved.

Fines For Many Offenses Levied By Judge Hinds

More than $100 in fines was assessed Wednesday night by Police Judge Hinds at the regular weekly session of his court in El Cerrito. Fines were distributed as follows:

R. W. Fallas, 6459 Hillgas avenue, Berkeley, speeding, $15; C. Andrews, 1536 Seventh street, Berkeley, no operator's license, $2, given until Monday to pay; Harry Hernandez, 250 Third street, Richmond, speeding $10, until March 31 to pay; John Sabral, Redwood, speeding $10; Louis Dupin, 1815 Twenty-eighth street, Oakland no tail light, $2.

R. H. Archambeault, Yeager apartments, Richmond, speeding, $10; L. Valpreda, 4222 Market street, Oakland, speeding, $10; W. L. Carlyle, Alvarado street, San Pablo, faulty lights, ball of $2; forfeited; W. Palkaris 392 Wood street, Oakland, speeding, ball of $10 forfeited; R. G. Rich, 1118 Gibman avenue, Berkeley, speeding, $10 until Saturday to pay; A. Lewis, 565 Thirty-third street, Oakland, speeding, $10; J. Welch, Crocker, speeding $10; D. Wing, 365 Seventh street, Oakland, speeding $15; I. Mitchell, 617 Lock street, San Francisco, speeding, ball of $10 forfeited.

APPRAISAL Plan For County Lands

H. G. Stafford, who is engaged in appraisal work in Alameda county, will meet the local realtors on the 12th of next month, when the matter of reappraising land values in Contra Costa county will be considered. The meeting will be held in Hotel Carquinez, with President E. B. Bull presiding.

It is announced that the Richmond realtors will hold luncheon meetings at two week intervals for discussion of local problems.

BAND HAS PRACTICE SESSION

Members of the recently organized band of the Richmond Fire Department held a practice session at the West Side station Tuesday night, under the direction of Adelphi Nelson.

RETURNS FROM SAD VISIT

Mrs. Margaret Simpson, Albany, has returned from Galt, where she was called by the death of her mother, Mrs. Dorinda Ellen Bell.

Where Wave Of Death Started

AFTER raging torrents had swept by only this piece of masonry remained standing to mark the site of the St. Francis Dam, that broke under cloudburst, visiting death upon more than 1,000 residents of the Santa Clara valley. Indescribable terror prevails in the valley as the searchers hunt bodies of flood victims, many hundreds of whom are buried under the mud. Damage is estimated at $10,000,000.

SAUGUS FAULT IS BLAMED FOR L. A. DAM BREAK

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—St. Francis dam, collapse of which wrought death and destruction, was constructed on the San Francisco fault, a geological condition known for a number of years and made the subject of publications illustrated by maps.

This statement made yesterday afternoon by Harry R. Johnson, consulting geologist of Los Angeles, speaking before the delegates to the convention of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists now in session here, created a profound impression, accompanied as it was by an analysis of the condition of the fault at that particular place.

Johnson prefaced his report by saying that the advisability of making it had been discussed with other delegates, and that it had been decided such a public report was advisable in view of the fact that "the public mind had been deluged by the wildest assortment of theories as to the cause of the catastrophe."

The line of the fault was easy to trace, he said. It shows from about four miles north of Saugus to a point about seven miles northeast.

Bancitaly Will Not Distribute Extra Annuals

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—Bancitaly Corporation will pay no extra, special, or stock dividends and will not increase the present annual dividend rate of $2.24 per share during 1928.

Definite announcement of this decision was made today by A. J. Ginnail, president of the corporation.

We want to set at rest once and for all, the rumors that have been circulated with respect to the possibility of our giving the stockholders either extra, special or stock dividends or an increase in the regular dividend rate. The board of directors of the Bancitaly Corporation empowered me at the last meeting to decide this matter in whatever manner I felt would be to the best interest of the Bancitaly Corporation.

"In fairness to the present stockholders and the general public, as well as to future investors, I am making this announcement at once so that those who are contemplating the purchase of our stock may guide themselves accordingly."

"We can say definitely at this time that the decision we have reached will be strictly adhered to throughout 1928. Those who wish to buy our stock on the basis of its present quarterly return of 56 cents per share should do so without expectation of receiving anything additional."

VETS RECEIVE LEGION CHIEF AT GATHERING

Department Commander Phil Dodson of South Pasadena was the guest of Richmond Post of the American Legion last night and addressed the members in Memorial Hall.

Previous to the meeting, a dinner was served in his honor at the hotel Carquinez at which department Chaplain Miss Tillie Allison of the Legion auxiliary was the guest of honor.

Dodson told of the work accomplished by the legion especially along emergency lines and cited the St. Francis dam disaster work. He stressed the need in the department of a permanent emergency committee to look after such matters.

His suggestion that the local post organize a quartet to represent Richmond at the state convention in Stockton next August was warmly received and plans are under way to form a quartet or other musical organization.

Dr. J. L. Beard, vice-commander of the Ninth district, was present and spoke of the picnic to be held the latter part of April or the first part of May at the Contra Costa golf club near Pacheco.

The local post made arrangements for a ladies' night entertainment and dance for members of their families and the auxiliary on the night of April 26. J. J. Barry has been appointed chairman of the committee and the other members to assist him will be appointed within the next few days.

George F. Tandy was appointed commander of the firing squad for the Memorial services, both on the Sunday preceding Memorial Day when the water services will be held and at the cemetery.

The coors of Richmond post will be carried to Fresno for the Raisin Day celebration, April 9.

W. S. Chamberlin heads the committee arranging for the Armistice Day dance to be held at East Shore Park.

A banquet was served by a committee headed by A. G. Papadakis following the meeting last night and community singing was led by Dennis Shaw and J. Burt.

Rural Districts Ought To Be Consolidated In Opinion Of Supt Cooper

Roused by action of the State Taxpayers Association, all county districts have begun to study the plan that advocates the abolition of all rural school district boards in this county. Contra Costa, and with Richmond no exception to the rule of the unit, is deeply interested in what took place in Sacramento yesterday when the "county unit plan" was submitted by the administration of state schools.

PARR PREDICTS GREAT FUTURE FOR RICHMOND

Speaking on the future development of the San Francisco bay district, Fred D. Parr, president of the Parr Terminal corporation of Richmond, last night addressed 200 members and guests of the San Pablo Chamber of Commerce at a dinner held in the new auditorium of the school.

Parr traced the history of the various cities on both sides of the San Francisco Bay and called attention to the rapid progress made during the past few years along industrial lines in San Pablo and Richmond. He told of the future possibilities of this district and predicted an unprecedented growth within the next decade.

The harbor development here in Richmond was praised by the speaker who called attention of the possibilities on San Pablo bay from Point San Pablo to Point Pinole.

R. B. Smith was chairman of the evening, introducing the speaker and the officers of the San Pablo chamber who delivered short talks. They are: M. G. Moltoza, president; F. E. Settle, vice-president; E. H. Woodfield, secretary and H. G. Soto, treasurer.

Praise was extended to the members of the San Pablo Parent-Teacher association who served the dinner.

Sustains Hurts In Crash At Rail Crossing

James Earley, Standard Oil employee of 1707 Sixty-second street, Oakland, was reported recovering from a badly sprained back and lacerations at the Cottage hospital following an accident yesterday noon when the car, in which he was driving was struck by a Santa Fe train at the Standard avenue crossing, West Side.

Earley was immediately taken to the Abbott Emergency hospital, where he received treatment by Dr. St. John Hely.

New Signs For S. P. Ferry Route

Enamel signs are today directing traffic to the Southern Pacific ferry, the wooden boards being discarded. In keeping with the revised policy of the California State Automobile Association the signs were placed lower than formerly in order to convenience motorists.

An electric sign will be placed at Tenth street and Lucas avenue, and another at Macdonald avenue and Twenty-third street.

By the first of May the auto ferry will be giving half hour service, it is reported.

PETITIONS FOR LETTERS

The superior court at Martinez has been petitioned for letters of administration in the estate of the late Jonathan Cassel. The petitioner is Mrs. Cassel and the estate is valued at $10,000 in government insurance which will go to the widow and six children.

With the endorsement of this tax saving scheme by State Superintendent of Schools William J. Cooper the movement to consolidate the management of the rural schools outside of incorporated cities under one county board of education has gained a great impetus.

The plan in brief is: To do away with the present boards of rural school trustees and an elected county superintendent of schools and put the control of all country schools in the hands of a county board of education elected at large. This county board is to appoint the county superintendent of schools, who will be its executive officer.

In approving this administrative innovation Cooper makes one provision in the interest of harmony and the continuity of present school policies. It is that the county superintendent now in office, or in office when the change is made, must be appointed by the new county boards of education and continued in office unless discharged for cause.

The state superintendent favors the "county unit plan" because he believes it will tend toward greater economy and efficiency in school affairs. The abolition of the multiplicity of separate rural boards of school trustees, for instance, will make it possible in his opinion, to consolidate many isolated little school districts into larger and more economic units. And in this consolidation into fewer well equipped schools in each county, Cooper prophesies a great saving will be effected. Not only will the overhead costs be reduced, according to him, but also a higher type of educational opportunity offered the country children.

In order to put this "county educational unit" into force it will be necessary not only to propose new legislation at the 1929 session of the legislature but also to submit a constitutional amendment to the people of the state.

With taxes growing higher every year, Cooper thinks the people will accept the plan.

American Ideals Lecture Subject

"Ideals of the American Legion" will be the subject of a talk to be made by Phil F. Dodson this noon before members of the Richmond Rotary club. Dodson is state department commander for the American Legion, and arrangements for his appearance were made by Commander Charles W. W. St. John of the Richmond post. Tony DeLap will be chairman of the day.

Dodson, a Los Angeles attorney, is rated a brilliant speaker.

TRY A REAL HOME VACATION

A change gives rest. With the shedding of the same daily routine comes relaxation and the opportunity to enjoy complete freedom. Here at home is leisure, inviting atmosphere and ideal accommodations for such a period of recreation. There is no need for a long fatiguing journey and the risk of disappointment after all. ## STAYING MARRIED IS THE REAL PROBLEM

Since the subject of companionate marriage was brought into the public discussion by the Denver juvenile judge, approximately enough brain power and typewriter ribbons and printer's ink have been wasted on it to build a fleet of battleships or settle the Colorado river controversy, but the subject of getting married in some manner or another, uppermost in the minds of the ladies and gentlemen who are doing the debating, is far from being settled as ever. The trouble with the debaters is that they consider marrying instead of staying married.

The companionate marriage business was invented because someone found out that too many married couples were getting divorces.

That means to this department of the great family journal that the place to look for the mistakes is in the home of the young married couple where the rocks of matrimony are encountered. Say or write what you will, youths and maidens will find a way of committing matrimony no matter what kind of a law we pass. And once married they will make some kind of an out of it, either combining the stuffs of their characters to make a success of the affair, or discovering that they don't like each other well enough to tie up for keeps. Unless the reformers can solve the problem of what makes humans act the way they do and apply a cure, companionate or any other kind of marriage will do no more to elevate the race than now is the case.

In time some of these good-natured dunderheads will discover that being married is a question for any two who married — to each other — have to handle. This is as nearly an individual proposition as can be imagined and as nearly unsolvable by general rules as any that mankind has. Until a millennial epoch of perfect honor, don't abolish capital punishment or try to amend the present system of matchmaking.

Fifty Years Ago Today

A HIGH-FLYING LADY, Annabelle Lee, who ran away with a circus, thought she'd give her old friends a thrill by showing off when the circus came. She does! She goes up in the balloon attached to the circus. And she lands in a tree in a wild section. Lucky she landed where she did.

VIGOROUS HEALTH

WALKING AND RUNNING

The real reason for taking exercise is to cause all the functions of the body to be more active and therefore to become stronger and more efficient for each part develops in accordance with its use, as long as use is balanced by adequate rest and sleep.

Exercise does far more than develop the muscles, as a little study of physiology will show. However, I cannot go into this now. What I want to bring out is the value of alternate walking and running in bringing the physiological benefits above described.

This is done as follows: Put on some light, easy clothing and begin walking at a brisk pace, and continue until you feel the blood circulating freely, as evidenced by a feeling of general warmth, then start to run at what is known as a jog trot until you become somewhat out of breath, then walk again until breath is recovered, then run again and continue this alternate walking and running until moderate general fatigue is felt. This exercise powerfully stimulates the circulation, causes deeper breathing and more active elimination and is excellent for increasing endurance and resistance to disease.

I have had a few teeth extracted and I am now informed that I need peridental treatment. I do not wish to take this as it requires a lot of time and I have little faith in it. Can the treatment be avoided?

SIMON L.

Such special treatment may be advisable in some cases, depending upon the exact condition present. However, probably the majority of cases could avoid this treatment by the use of more raw foods in the diet, the practice of thorough mastication and massage of the gums with lemon juice. Some cases may require a fruit diet and local ultra-violet radiation.

CONSTITUTIONAL EXERCISE. We often hear people refer to their daily walk as their daily "constitutional" and truly it is one of the best forms of exercise. This term is used to designate those forms of exercise which, while they do not develop great strength or endurance, do markedly increase the circulation and stimulate every function in the body.

A certain amount of strength and endurance will naturally be gained, but the chief effect is an increase in the rate and efficiency of the vital functions. This form of exercise is especially adapted to the needs of those who are striving to recover their health, but it is equally valuable to those who are already healthy.

The forms of exercise included under this heading are walking, alternate walking and running, free-hand calisthenics, dancing, rope skipping, use of the medicine ball and the lighter games, such as golf, volley ball, handball, etc. Some of these exercises can be made quite strenuous so as to build unusual endurance, but when taken for constitutional purposes they are practiced mildly. Almost any form of exercise can be made constitutional in its effects by graduating the exertion, and all forms of exercise are fundamentally constitutional in nature although the term is applied only to those where this effect is the primary object in view.

I have had a dry cough in the winter time for the past two years. My lungs are all right. Please advise.

A. B.

A dry cough may be due to dry catarrh, to stomach irritation, or to spinal subluxations. Treatment depends upon just what is wrong but deep breathing of fresh air, general exercise, relaxation and plenty of sleep are always helpful. Tobacco must not be used. A strictly natural diet with lots of raw foods and an occasional raw egg or two on nothing but fruits would probably apply.

Is there any chance to overcome a condition of enlargement of the liver and loss of blood from internal piles? WORREED.

I believe that there is no incurable disease, and that while there is life there is hope. Determination, confidence and the right methods will often produce miracles. The usual natural treatment in such a case would be repeated orange diets, with raw fruit, vegetable and butter diet between.

How To Earn Money!

Would you please give me the name of any tea shop that might need my service washing fine china and glassware during the evening hours? I could also act as hostess, but prefer the other work as it is more retiring.—L. D. I think you would find tea room work congenial and the atmosphere a pleasant one to work in. You will find that there are many chains of tea rooms in the country, so large that they have employment agencies of their own. There will be a place for you in one of them, I am sure.

I am a new writer and have one photograph written and ready to submit. Would you kindly send me the names and addresses of the large studios and literary agents in New York? Must a manuscript be copyrighted?—L. W.

A manuscript does not have to be copyrighted; you can depend on the films to be honorable, because they are big and well managed. I am going to tell you frankly, my dear, that scenarios have a very small chance when they are written by beginners. They rarely accept stories now unless the author's name has publicity value. I'll send the addresses as however, and you can try.

Will you please send me the address of a part time bureau? My son is a freshman at college and will have to leave in February unless I can locate a position.—M. E. S.

I'll send the address of the part time bureau. Isn't there something your son can do while in college to help pay for his tuition? The finest boys I know have worked their way through. I am sure the institution must have some means too, of lending the students money which they can pay back slowly.

I would like the address of an accounting school. My boy goes to work during the day and he wants to go to night school.—MRS. A. T.

I wish you could see the list of schools that teach accounting. Most of them are free and night schools, I think your son is very wise to take advantage of this opportunity.

We would like to start a boy's camp of about fifty boys. Could you tell me how to go about getting addresses? Do you think we should advertise or canvass, and, if so, could you tell me how to go about getting address of the parents and of the boys? Both my husband and I are physical culturists and have three healthy boys of our own.—MR. AND MRS. A. B.

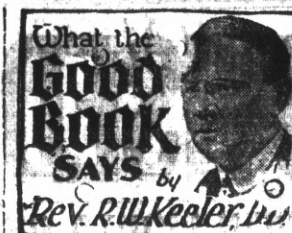

You might get addresses through the schools and through the Y. M. C. A. and through the churches. I'd suggest printing a little booklet, showing views of the camp site, telling rates, etc. Couldn't you accommodate more than fifty boys on ninety-seven acres?

WHY I BLUSHED

I had made an appointment with a fellow to meet him at 7:30 one evening in front of a New York theatre. At 8 o'clock he had not yet put in an appearance. I dashed into a nearby phone booth, calling his number and asking for Bill. When I heard his answering "Hello" I called into him, calling him every name I could think of. Finally, I heard Bill say, "Betty, you must call my number in your sleep. This is Bill F. and not Bill R. But I'm glad to hear he stood you up." I tottered out of the booth, and there, in front of me, stood the man I had been waiting for, explaining that traffic from Long Island had delayed him, but he'd heard every word.

CHAPTER II—Continued

It was easier to think than to do, Mazie found, because she wasn't quite certain as to how to begin the letter. She took up the paper once more, and shuddered at the bare back. Then she began. Scratching out, rewriting, working quite visibly, until at last Mazie reached for a fresh piece of paper. She copied neatly what she had written, and then read it over to herself.

"My dear Adele," she spoke to herself in a sort of whisper to get the proper effect, "I have just read the most horrid story about you in the paper. How can you continue to play with men's hearts as if they were potatoes? If it were not for mother's last wish that I look after you, I would never even write you. I think you had better come out here and breathe some of our pure western air. It should shame you into a realization of your vicious way of living. Affectionately your sister, Mazie."

There, thought Mazie. That ought to bring Adele to her senses, and remind her of her mother.

At last the cab reached the stage entrance of the theatre and Adele flung open the door and stepped out. Her light, fawn-colored chiffons fluttered about her shapely legs, and her delicate sandals clinked musically as her feet touched the sidewalk. Dismissing her taxi, Adele ran down the alleyway and through the stage door into the theatre.

She glanced at the key rack and noted that Renee was already in the dressing room by the absence of the key. She called out greetings to the various members of the cast who were also making their appearances for the evening performance and went on to her dressing room.

"Any messages?" any mail, Renee? she burst into the room, flinging her fur on the lounge.

"Yes, Madame," Renee handed out some letters and cards, many of them advertisements from photographers, beauty specialists, costumers—the usual sort of letters that makes the actresses' mail boxes so full. "And Monsieur le Directeur ask for you." Renee had learned much English in her few months in America, but she could never refrain from calling the manager "le Directeur."

"O, what does he want?" Adele questioned, glancing over the mail. "Photographs," Renee answered. She had become so accustomed to repeating that word that she spoke it easily now.

"Oh, yes, probably about advertising some powder, I—" she stopped with an enquiring glance at a letter. It was merely a white envelope, addressed to "Miss Adele Dayton," in a scrawling, woman's hand, but the postmark arrested her attention. "Brooklyn, Iowa," she read.

"Pardon, Madame," Renee glanced at Adele.

"Nothing," Renee. Just a letter from my—my sister," she returned. "When did Monsieur le Directeur say he would be here?"

"He is waiting outside. I will call him," Renee offered.

"All right," Renee. Adele nodded to the maid, as she tore open the letter and glanced quickly over the page. As soon as she discovered that it bore no bad news, she read it more carefully. Then she began to laugh. It was really too amusing. Amusing to think that she, Adele, should return to Brooklyn, amusing to think in what frame of mind Mazie must have been to send such a letter, amusing to think of Mazie seeing some story about her in the paper. Undoubtedly it was the story sent from Paris, Adele thought. And how it must have affected poor, simple, unsophisticated Mazie. The entire thing seemed most amusing.

At that moment Adele was interrupted by the manager's voice, and the man entered the room, followed by several others, including a photographer.

"Miss Dayton, these are some gentlemen from the Silver-Talcum Powder Company," the manager introduced his companions with a wave of his hand. "They want to make you a proposition about using your name and a photograph of you for their business. I've been talking to them."

"Just what do they want to use and how," Adele questioned. "You know, I leave most of these things to you, Ben," she assured the manager.

"Well, in the first place," the manager began to explain, "they want to photograph you, having your back powdered with some of their powder—I suppose one of the men in the cast could use the puff."

UNITY LODGE GREETED DEPUTY LEADER OF DIST.

Daily Lodge, Daughters of St. George, met in W. O. W. hall last night with Mrs. Nee presiding. Refreshments were served following a business meeting.

Joint Hostesses To Club at Its Home Social

Mrs. Lee Dickey and Mrs. Jack Diller were joint hostesses to Club Mendelssohn yesterday afternoon in the home of the former, 101 Bilsland road, Mira Vista.

The opera "Turkmen and Lodo" was studied and Mrs. F. C. Sandberg gave a summary of the story. An aria from the opera was sung by Mrs. Lawrence Horz, accompanied by Mrs. James Hony. She also sang Elizabeth's song from Tanhauser and Diller's "Thanks Be To God."

Photograph records of the Death and Love Death were played. Edwin Arlington Robinson's poem, "The Master," was read by Mrs. W. G. Foster of Berkeley, press chairman of the Alameda County Federation News. Bouquets were presented to those taking part in the program.

Officers will be elected at the next meeting of the club to be held in Trinity guild hall with Mrs. W. Schmidt and Mrs. L. Owens as hostesses.

Mrs. R. M. Faldenholz, chairman of the committee for the opera, "In the Garden of the Shah," presented last month, reported a substantial sum was raised and that the three music scholarship pupils, Hugh Fowell, Miss Emma Meyers, and Miss Grace Lowell will be re-awarded scholarships. A competitive contest for the drama scholarship will be held April 27.

Mrs. James Stuart presided over the meeting and the hostesses served delicious refreshments at the close of the program.

Gives Facts On Air Mail

Under the heading "Air Mail Facts" the Western Air Express, which operates the air mail line between Los Angeles and Salt Lake City and the "mille high airway" carrying mail in Wyoming and Colorado, has sent here a bulletin giving concise information in regard to the requirements of aerial transport of postal matter. The information listed follows:

"Postage, 10c per half ounce anywhere. No additional postage is required for train or boat mail of mail dispatched by air to any point in the United States or Canada, Great Britain, Ireland or other foreign countries to which first class mail takes ordinary rate. Air mail to all other foreign countries must bear, in addition to the 10c per half ounce rate, 3c postage for the first ounce and 1c for each additional ounce or fraction.

"Air mail to foreign countries must be fully prepaid. Underpaid domestic air mail is transmitted 'postage due,' but underpaid air mail to foreign countries is forwarded by rail, since there is no way for the government to collect from addressee.

"Air mail may be deposited in any mail box.

"Use any postage stamps except 'special delivery' stamps to prepay air mail postage.

"Air mail may be given 'special delivery,' registry, insurance or C. O. D. service by adding usual extra fee postage.

"Anything admissible to the mails may be sent by air mail. Packages are limited to fifty pounds in weight or eighty-four inches in length and girth combined.

"Mark every letter and package plainly 'Via Air Mail.'"

"For further information consult your postmaster."

If Wishes Were Horses

... BEGGARS might ride, an old proverb says. Not often does the pastime of merely wishing for anything produce tangible results. But wishes, if not too fantastic, can be realized if one opens a savings account in the American Trust Company and systematically adds to it. A little ready money at the right time might transform a wish into a reality. Four percent interest, compounded semi-annually, is an important factor in the building of an American Trust Savings Account.

STORY OF OLD FORT TOLD IN STIRRING FILM

The main fight sequence of William Boyd's star picture, "Dress Parade," a splendid Pathe DeMille Special, which was filmed at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, under the supervision of Donald Crisp, was photographed on the historical Revolutionary War site, Fort Putnam.

The old Fort was constructed under the guidance of General Putnam in 1777 and it seems quite natural that this place should be the site where the various differences between the Cadets are settled by force of arms.

The fight was between William Boyd, star of the picture and Hugh Allan, who is the rival in the suit of both for the hand of the Commandant's daughter, played by Bessie Love. The cameras gave the word to "shoot." After a number of feet of film was shot,
Mr. Crisp called a "halt" and proceeded to demonstrate how a real fight should be fought. Mr. Crisp was an amateur boxer for many years and in his prime he knocked down Kid McCoy in a friendly amateur fight. Under his guidance the fight of Boyd and Allan proceeded according to Queensbury rules.

Bessie Love plays the feminine role opposite William Boyd, in "Dress Parade," which will be seen at the California Theatre today and tomorrow. Others in the cast are Hugh Allan, Louise Nathaux, Clarence Geldert and M.
Ryhan.

Other features include "Smith's Surprise," a Mack Sennett comedy; Pathe Review; and current news events.

Famous Java Volcano Calms

BATAVIA (Java), March 22.—
The famous volcano of Krakatoa has subsided, after a violent eruption that fortunately did little damage. Inhabitants of nearby districts in Java and Sumatra, long the Strait of Sunda, have come to the conclusion that a repetition of the disaster of 1883 will not be experienced.

The story of that eruption is still fresh in the minds of old inhabitants. Krakatoa was considered an extinct volcano; no sign of life had been exhibited since 1680. In May, 1883, K्रा- katōa suddenly came to life, with noises like the firing of cannon and quakings of the ground for miles about. Little harm was done and the mountain presently subsided. Suddenly, on August 26, Krakatoa began a tremendous eruption.

It was the time of the monsoon, and the people of Batavia were expecting rain. When the distant sounds of the eruption were heard,
they were mistaken for thunder, but as they increased it soon became evident that they were not due to a storm.

That night the people of Batavia, eighty miles from the mountain, took to the streets, fearing that the shaking of the earth would bring their houses down upon them. Next morning the sun was obscured by gray clouds of floating ashes, from which a shower of dust fell.

At 7 o'clock a tremendous crash was heard; this was followed three hours later by a still might-ier explosion that was reported in India, in Manila, and even on the west coast of Australia, 2,000 miles away. The streets of Batavia became so dark that the lamps had to be lighted. All day long ashes and hot stones fell.

Ships struggled into the harbor and reported they had been almost swamped by showers of pumice;
decks and rigging had been set on fire. Tidal waves swept the shores of the strait destroying villages and drowning 3600 people.

GOOD ACTION IN POWER WORKS SPLENDID PLAY WARNED DAM WAS NOT SAFE

Francis MacDonald, a good actor, can testify to the truth of the statement that a bear as an opponent in mortal combat is a bad actor. He had an honest goodness fight with a husky of the Bruno tribe and he knows whereof he speaketh. This experience came as a part of his lot in the role of a villain in James Oliver Curwood's sensational photodrama, "Nomads of the North," which is booked for a showing at the Richmond Theatre starting today.

As the disturbing factor in the plot of the story MacDonald finally catches the heroine, Betty Elythe, all alone in her lonely cabin away out in the woods of the Far North and when he proceeds to gain his revenge for her wedding another man, her husband's pet bear, Neewa, breaks into the house and accomplishes a spectacular rescue by engaging MacDonald in a fight loosely resembling the man to man battles you often see on the screen, but much fiercer and more exciting.
MacDonald fought for all he was worth—he simply had to, because he thought I was going to stage a "play" his part, it was not possible to hold the bear very much in check. "I thought I was going to stage a play scrape and the bear got serious, when I had to dig in and really try to hurt the big brute
but I got hurt instead," said Mac-Donald after the picture was completed. "And, let me add just one thing more, an unarmed man in a flesh to flesh fight with a bear has no chance in the world—he's sure headed for the other world."

Other film features include
"Heroes of the Wild," a thrilling tale of the Gauchos, with Jack Hoxie, a wild horse, a marvel dog and an excellent supporting cast.

When Caesar was a boy

The Forum was the common market-place for all of ancient Rome. Today a few crumbling columns stand as mute reminders of its former grandeur.

In our present-day complex civilization, market-places have become scattered. It is no longer possible to visit them all in a morning—or even in a day.

Advertising, instead, has become the convenient Forum of modern buyers and sellers. If you are considering the purchase of a new car, you scrutinize the automobile advertising. Or if it's a razor or a talking machine that you want, you turn again to the advertising. Here is the national market-place for merchandise.

Furthermore, as you leaf over those same pages of products, your mind is storing away for tomorrow a compact and valuable fund of information. Instinctively, you will remember those facts when you make your future purchases. Increase your store of knowledge by reading the advertisements regularly.

PEANUT HOLDS ITS OWN WHEN MARKETS DROP

NEW YORK, March 22.—Though not so familiar perhaps to the pages of our literature as corn or wheat, the peanut remains an essential part of the American tradition. The veriest school child knows, of course, without having to look it up in the encyclopedia, that this vegetable is not actually a nut, but a ground pea, native to South America, which found its way to North America by way of Africa as food for prisoners on board slave ships in early Colonial days. For years it led a lowly existence in small patches of the Southland cultivated by the slaves. During the war Union soldiers foraging for food came upon the goober, found it palatable, and, after Appomattox, carried it home in triumph. As popcorn and pink lemonade to the circus, so the peanut to the ball game, and in the city streets its vendors are allowed a siren of their own. Chestnuts may have an alien heritage, but not so peanuts. Even politicians feel they may eat them without prejudice.

OPEN EVENINGS

HICKMAN WILL NOT HAVE TO HANG IN APRIL

SAN QUENTIN, March 22.—Officials of the San Quentin state penitentiary were notified today of postponement of the hanging of William Edward Hickman, scheduled for April 27.

The notification came from Grant Taylor, clerk of the state supreme court in San Francisco, where Hickman's appeal from the sentence of death for the murder of Marion Parker is on file. Because of the congested calendar of the supreme court, it will be impossible for his appeal to be acted upon before April 27, according to word from Taylor.

Hickman will be held in the condemned row of the state prison with no definite date set for his execution until the supreme court has had time to act on his appeal.

FINE CURE FOR CHICK TUMORS

WASHINGTON, March 22.—A method for rendering inactive the virus of chicken tumor, one of the forms of cancer, has been discovered by Mrs. M. R. Lewis and Dr. H. B. Anderson of the department of embryology of the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

Their discovery is one of those benevolent accidents which occasionally falls to the lot of research workers during their explorations beyond the borders of established knowledge. It has, in fact, had the effect of retarding their progress toward solution of the problem on which they were engaged.

Having established that the malignant cells of chicken tumors were for the most part modified white blood cells and that washed white blood cells from infected chicken brought about the formation of a tumor when injected into one that was normal, they were trying to determine whether the injected cells were transformed directly into the malignant structures or served merely as vehicles for the virus.

Previous experience had shown that the washed white cells could be marked with carmine particles obtained from dye manufacturers, and thus traced through the blood streams and into the tissue in different parts of the body. They undertook to solve the new problem by this method. No difficulty was encountered in identifying the carmine cells after injection, but it was found that the dye prevented the formation of tumors.

The unexpected effect made it necessary, in order to clear the way for further progress toward the original objective of the investigation, to determine the effect of carmine upon the tumor virus itself.

(By Universal Service)

LONDON, March 22.—Kind words for "hen-pecked husbands" were expressed by Dr. C. W. Kimmins, chief education inspector of the London County Council, in a recent speech before the York Women's Luncheon club. Dr. Kimmins said:

"Hen-pecked husbands are the most delightful and childish people in the world. Some of them are not really hen-pecked; they are hen-protected."

The education officer asserted that hen-pecked husbands "live longer than those who are not hen-pecked."

Mexico Quake Damage Small

MEXICO CITY, March 22.—The United States embassy residence was among buildings in Mexico City damaged by an earthquake which last night spread panic throughout the capital and several other cities in central and southern Mexico.

Only minor casualties were reported.

The damage to the American embassy residence was in a wall of the bedroom of Dwight W. Morrow, the American ambassador, and in one of the outside walls. Morrow was in his drawing room conferring with Dr. John C. Merritt of the Carnegie Institute when the temblor was felt. Before daylight this morning pilgrims began trudging to the shrine of Our Lady of Guadalupe, Mexico's patron saint, to offer thanks for their safety from the quake.

Five persons were reported injured in Mexico City. In the suburbs three shacks collapsed and in one of the poorer quarters of the city bricks and pieces of plaster were jarred from the walls and roofs of several houses.

For more than 24 hours the Mexican plateaus have been covered with heavy clouds. It has rained most of the time and there has been some thunder and lightning.

EPISCOPAL GUILD DINNER ENJOYED

COUZENS LOSES MELLON FIGHT

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Senator Couzens' resolutions asking that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon resign was placed on file today.

Senator Reed of Pennsylvania defended Mellon saying that Mellon had through the assignment of his "debt," so-called had covered all. Senator Reed said that it was shown that treasury department agents had played an important part in bringing to public light Teapot Dome facts. Couzens opened the fireworks by reciting what had been contained in his resolution. He claimed that the government had lost hundreds of thousands of dollars through the Sinclair bond scandal, and that Mellon had kept silent on the $50,000 of bonds that had been left with Will H. Hays. Reference was also made to the Pennsylvania bonds.

Leaps To Death; Fourteen Floors

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—H. L. Plimpton, leaped from the fourteenth story of the Russ building and met instant death.

Plimpton had arrived from Arizona a few days ago, and when he contemplated suicide he wrote a note to his father and mother and said: "I cannot accept any more of what I have not earned." The unfortunate man is supposed to have been a victim of weak lungs and general breakdown.

LOCALS FACE HARD CONTESTS AT BERKELEY

Curly Ernie Barberi will send his cohorts against the strong Berkeley baseball club on the Yellowjackets' diamond this afternoon in what is expected to be one of the toughest contests of the season. Jack Pinto, star twirler for the Richmond high school club, is slated for mound duty against the college city squad.

Last year the clubs met in two games with honors even.

Richmond's heavy hitting outfield, composed of Muiyile, Doyle, Taylor and Joe Baldwin, is expected to furnish the heavy artillery, while the infield, which has been improving with each start, can be depended upon to tighten up at critical moments.

The possible starting lineup was announced by Barberi as follows: Williams, 3b; C. Pinto, 2b; Viano, 1b; Gordon, ss; J. Pinto, p; J. Baldwin, rf; Muiyile, cf; Taylor, lf, and Swenson, c.

GIRL CAGERS TO PLAY ISLE CITY QUINTET

Representatives of all teams entered in the East Bay Y. L. I. basketball league will meet in Oakland tonight to set a date for another meeting between the Richmond girl cagers and the Alameda quintet. The teams met twice, each winning a game, and the rubber for the championship of the circuit will be staged on a neutral court somewhere in Oakland within the next two weeks.

The local five holds victories over Alameda, Gleason Institute, Berkeley, Hannah and Oakland, their only reverse being suffered in the first clash with Alameda.

Team members who have been responsible for the brilliant playing of the local team under Coach Jack Quinn and the manager, Miss Julia Desmond, are: Cecilia Desmond, Helen Maloney, and Louise Novarini, forwards; Grace Berk, Irene Carey, Mary Gately, and Alice Maloney, centers; and Agnes Ring, Helen Gately and Louise Novarini, guards.

Contra Costa Golfers Beat Napa By 17-14

Contra Costa golfers defeated Napa golfers 17 points to 14 recently when the aggressive Contra Costa Golf Club presented a 25-man team to give battle to the Napa Golf and Country Club at the course of the former's club at Pacheco. The victory last Sunday was vengeance for the disastrous defeat administered last year at Napa, when the Contra Costa team was swamped in a home-and-home match.

The Contra Costa 9 hole course was crowded to capacity throughout most of the day as a result of the tournament with Napa.

Another Finger In Heavyweight Pie

Ed Sullivan's SPORT WHIRL

HUMPHRIES TELLS McLARNIN OF TERRY After Jimmy McLarnin, the little knockout from Vancouver, B. C., had attached his boyish signature to the contract calling for a fifteen-round fight with Sammy Mandell of Rockford, Ill., for the lightweight championship of the world, McLarnin casually wandered across Tex Rickard's office and seated himself next to Joe Humphries.

They made a strange combination. McLarnin, hailed as another Terry McGovern, had accidentally seated himself next to the man who managed Terrible Terry.

McLarnin showed keen interest when I asked Humphries how Terry and McLarnin compared. He was to hear the comparison from the lips of the man who knew McGovern better than any one save Sam Harris.

"That's hard to tell," started Joe. "I've only seen Jimmy in one fight, the fight with Terris, and that one ended in a round. It's hard to get a like on a fighter in one heat."

"When he hit Terris and floored him, he looked just like Terry McGovern hit that way, so fast that the ringers sometimes could not pin their eyes on the punch that sent the other fellow down on his face in the resin."

"Jimmy, here, baffled most of the ringers. They saw him start a right hand, but they didn't see it land. And it was that way when McGovern let go with a right. There is more than a resemblance between them in the way they groove it. I remember the night Terry flattened E. Forbes over in Brooklyn. As they broke from a clinch, Forbes fell flat on his back. No one saw the punch start, but the blood that trickled from Forbes' mouth proved that he had been jolted by a steaming right hand."

"There is no similarity in their styles of fighting, McLarnin wastes a lot of time and effort in jockeying his openings. McGovern would stop a lead with his forehead in order to shoot home the counter. And McGovern liked to rip and tear. He threw a lot of punches; Jimmy here takes his time and is more deliberate."

"However, McLarnin will do, even though he may not be a carbon copy of Terrible Terry. It is too much to ask for another McGovern."

HE HAS SEEN MANDELL IN ACTION

McLarnin, a gentlemanly little fellow, was quite willing to discuss Sammy Mandell, the champion he hopes to explode from his throne on the night of May 17 in New York city.

"I've seen Mandell fight," explained Jimmy. "Out on the Coast, I watched him train for his fights with Phil Salvadore and Jackie Fields, and I saw the fights, too. I wanted to see how he shaped up because I figured that some day if the breaks came my way, I might be in there trying to grab his title."

"Mandell is a darn good fighter," and it was evident that McLarnin was not simply paying a pretty compliment. He meant it. He knows that Mandell is no part of a sap in the ring.

"He's the fastest lightweight I have ever seen in action," he continued. "I never saw any one so light on his feet and so quick with his head and hands. I understand Sid Terris was very fast, too, but I don't think he could have matched Mandell's speed."

"Terris, you see, used his speed to circle around you, stopping every now and then to poke a left jab. Mandell moves in and out, hitting and recreating and then moving back to hit again."

"I think I can get to his with a right-hand punch, but I know that I haven't anything easy in front of me. It should be a good fight, for we'll both be trying, you can bet on that."

HIS RECORD HINTS HE'S AN IN-AND-OUTER

You will find a great amount of pro and con opinions submitted when veteran fight critics probe McLarnin's record.

Off his record, he can be very, very good, and then again not so good. Scan his record closely and it appears that he is an in-and-outer although this may be explained by his rapid growth from one class to another. He may have suffered pugilistic growing pains.

His poorer fights, however, are offset by the wins he has piled up against real good men.

He knocked out Sid Terris, Jackie Fields, Joey Sangor and Kid Kaplan. That he got up from the floor to knock out Kaplan argues well for his gameness.

I should say that his knockout of Jackie Fields, the Jewish Coast fighter, is most significant in any analysis of McLarnin's chance to beat Mandell on May 17. Fields is of Mandell type of boxer. McLarnin brushed right past Fields annoying left jab and popped him on the chin.

The one fellow who gave McLarnin consistent trouble was Bud Taylor, the Terre Haute, Ind., blond. Taylor, at the time, was probably the best bantam in the country and McLarnin had not long since been lifted from cauliflower swaddling clothes.

Ask him what he considers his toughest fight, and he'll tell you those with Bud Taylor.

The thing that makes some critics doubt that he is as good as he appeared to be against Terris is the fact that he had been dropped for a count in four fights leading up to this battle. He had been softened.

Billy Wallace, of Cleveland, the feather-duster, Phil McGraw from Detroit, Rubby Goldstein of New York and Hilario Martinez, all had deposited Terris on the matting before McLarnin made him stick there. Terris was largely to blame for his trips to the canvas. Had Sid stuck to boxing, instead of becoming obsessed with the idea that he was a terrific right hand puncher, it is safe to say that few of these fellows would have floored him.

Tin Ear Alley thinks that Terris had been "readied" for McLarnin. Tin Ear Alley also wants to know why McLarnin could not make a better showing with Billy Wallace when they fought in Cleveland, or with Lupe Tencio when they met on the Coast.

FIGHT CARD TO BE HELD IN ARMORY

Richmond fans who are holding tickets for the benefit fight card to be staged in San Francisco tonight, are reminded that the scene of prospective action has undergone a last minute switch from Recreation Park to the State Armory at Fourteenth and Mission streets. Possibility of rain and wet grounds caused Charlie Traung, boxing commissioner to make the change.

Despite the fact that the event is billed as a benefit for the St. Francis dam sufferers, local fans need not worry that the participants will merely go through the motions. Traung has personally told each boxer that action is expected.

The card includes many of the best drawing cards in the business.

Richmond, El Cerrito Teams To Play Soon

Growing rivalry between the ball clubs of the Richmond and El Cerrito fire departments is expected to crystallize in a scheduled game soon, it was announced yesterday.

Heading the newly organized El Cerrito club is George Kelly, who announced that a game would be played Sunday with a team from some point in the county. The El Cerrito players have changed their drill hours in order to get in sufficient practice to enable them to get in stride.

Charles Ellsworth has the call for the twirling end, with C. Chalmers slated for duty behind the plate. At first base will be stationed Wes Zimmerman. Others who have already signed the roster are: Bill Kelly, John Sherwood and Bill Wuelzer.

Jack Dempsey To Don Mitts In S. F. Ring

Jack Dempsey, ex-heavyweight arrive in San Francisco today from Los Angeles to participate in a mammoth boxing carnival to be staged tonight for the benefit of the St. Francis dam sufferers.

San Francisco promoters, working in cooperation with Boxing Commissioner Charlie Traung, have arranged a card carrying a wide appeal to fight fans, and an overflow crowd is expected to witness the events.

RICHMOND YOUTH TWIRLS SEAL ROOKIES TO VICTORY OVER MONTEREY HI SCHOOL

Vernon "Lefty" Gomez, former twirler for the Richmond high school baseball club, tossed them over the plate for the Seal rookies at Monterey yesterday, allowing the Monterey high school nine two scratch hits and no runs. The young left-hander is being closely watched by Nick Williams, Seal boss, and it is thought the transbay club will hold on to the local product until he gets a little more experience.

In yesterday's game Gomez displayed wonderful control, with a sweeping curve and a good fast ball. None of the Monterey players could drive the ball through the infield, while Gomez sent 18 back to the bench via the strikeout route.

In the third inning the first two Monterey batters beat out infield hits, the next batter drew a pass, loading the bases. Gomez pitched himself out of a hole by striking out the next three batters. The game went six innings.

Rain Postpones Tennis Contest

Rain yesterday caused a postponement of the tennis match scheduled to be played on the City Hall court between the Richmond high school tennis club and Crockett high. Efforts are being made to arrange for a match to be played next Tuesday on the local courts. On the following Friday the Richmond team will compete in an interschool meet at Crockett.

Notre Dame will have two captains next season, two ballots resulting in ties.

RURAL SCHOOL DISTRICTS TO BE COMBINED

The county board of supervisors is ready to treat their school districts in a businesslike way and to place the school system from neighborhood control to a county board of management responsible to the taxpayers of the county.

Under the "county unit plan" it is proposed to elect a board of five persons from the county at large, one to be elected each year for a five year term. The control of all schools outside of incorporated cities and towns would be placed in the hands of this board, which is to lay down school policies and legislate for the country schools such as superintendents of schools, who will be a general school manager, responsible to this board for the conduct of all rural schools.

Seeks Judgment For Key Route Crash Damage

Injuries alleged by Mrs. Kathleen Parker, Richmond, to have been sustained March 15, when her car struck a Key Route bus, has resulted in a damage suit against the company wherein Mrs. Parker seeks judgment of $15,000. Her husband is suing for $8000 for injuries received in the same collision.

The accident occurred at Macdonald avenue and Forty-sixth street.

The Core

about the persons who buy outside of town? Why not try to have them live here, and under pleasing and not intolerant circumstances.

Hanford in Kings County, is thinking seriously about having a city manager. This sort of official is a very valuable adjunct to civic life provided he has assimilated the idea that the public should be taken into his confidence. The city manager, who manages under cover, and who gives no information to the taxpayers who pay his salary, is a very poor excuse for a city manager.

Most city managers make it their business to keep the public informed as to the affairs in which the people are peculiarly and mentally interested. When a city gets into the slot, and has a manager who is so silent that he cannot even peep when asked to chirp a few lines of information about what he is actually doing, then it is time for the voters to take some action that will mean something besides allowing him to draw his salary. Perhaps the town of Hanford is wise in not selecting a manager. If it can manage its own affairs without the assistance of a secret service, it might be better off.

Alienation Is Charged In Suit

MARTINEZ, March 22.—A sensation was sprung in the suit brought against Mike Perino, Richmond building contractor, by Enrico Palmieri of Richmond, in which the plaintiff asks $20,000 from Perino for alienating his wife's affections, when Mrs. Palmieri took the witness stand and admitted indiscretions with Perino and asserted that Perino was the father of her 16-months old child. Perino had previously taken the stand and denied the charges before Judge H. V. Alcarado.

Charging that Perino is the father of a son, now 16 months old, born to his wife, Clelia, Palmieri claims that Perino "maliciously" planned to alienate his wife's affections and "finally acquired an improper influence over her."

Palmieri accuses Perino, of having promised to marry Mrs. Palmieri when she obtained a divorce. She now has an interlocutory decree. Perino denied all the charges in court yesterday, and then Mrs. Palmieri took the stand and testified that her husband's charges were true. She admitted several indiscretions with Perino and declared that he was the father of her 16-months old boy. The Palmieris have four children, the eldest 15 years old.

SPEAKS AT REVIVAL

Captain Ellison of the Salvation Army delivered the sermon last night at the Union revival services in the First Baptist church. The topic of his sermon was: "How to Become a Christian." Solos were sung by Mrs. Silvia who played her own accompaniment on a guitar.

WALSH SEES PLOT IN FALL OIL SCANDAL

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Albert B. Fall's much advertised but later modified desire to tell "the whole story" of Teapot Dome was a publicity stunt designed to influence prospective jurors of the Sinclair oil trial here April 4, members of the Senate public lands committee declared today.

"It was obviously a move to influence public opinion," Senator J. Walsh, famous oil scandal prosecutor, said.

"It is a regret to me as a member of the committee that we fell into the trap," Senator Gerald P. Nye, committee chairman, declared.

This was the overshadowing development in the oil investigations as the government forced a severance of the Fall-Sinclair trial after a heated argument in District of Columbia supreme court.

Thus Harry F. Sinclair, multimillionaire oil magnate, must go to trial here before Justice Jennings Bailey on April 4 charged with conspiring to defraud the nation of its oil reserves.

Fall, his co-defendant, too ill to come to Washington, will be tried later—when his health sufficiently improves, attorneys for both sides agreed.

Feeling that it had been "taken in" by a shrewd defense move when it accepted at face value Fall's announcement of yesterday that he wished to "tell all"—which was later modified to a willingness to give a deposition the main basis of which Sinclair attorneys filed in court today—the Senate public lands committee quickly discarded its earlier plans to send a sub-committee to Fall's home in El Paso.

Mrs. Sarah J. Burnett Dies In Lebanon, Pa.

Telegraphic advices from New Lebanon, Pa., announce the death in that city of Mrs. Sarah J. Burnett, mother of Helen B. Kingsbury, secretary of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce, the youngest of eight surviving children, two sons and six daughters.

Mrs. Burnett was eighty years of age. She was a true daughter of the American Revolution, her paternal grandfather having served as an aide to General George Washington during the Revolutionary War.

A member of the Boylan family, pioneer settlers in Pennsylvania, Mrs. Burnett had lived all her life in New Lebanon and immediate vicinity. With the exception of Mrs. Kingsbury, the surviving children live within a radius of one hundred miles of the family home. Mrs. Burnett had been in failing health for more than a year.

Accuses Two In Peralta Disaster

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—Edward Dyson, chief engineer of the Key System ferry boat Peralta, and his assistant, Harry Hill, were today cited for neglect by examining inspectors and will face trial before the steamboat inspection board. The trial date will be set later.

The citations were issued following questioning of the men by Inspector Turner. If the men are found guilty of negligence they will lose their licenses. Turner stated, explaining that no criminal procedure is implied.

Questioning centered on the condition of the water ballast tanks on the Peralta when on February 17, the bow of the ferry dipped up a wall of water and swept 30 passengers over-board and drowned five.

Fails In Suit Against Countess

NEW YORK, March 22.—Mrs. Alice B. Corbett today failed in her effort to collect $250,000 from Countess Andrea Marco Giuseppe Soranzo for alleged alienation of the affections of Mrs. Corbett's husband, now in Sing Sing prison.

The jury deliberated the evidence for four hours. Ten minutes before a verdict was found the jury returned to the courtroom and asked for a post card which the mother of Mrs. Corbett's husband had sent to Corbett, and for a copy of the testimony of Helen Corbett, sister of the husband.

Sermon Delivered By Berkeley Pastor

Rev. Henry McFadden of Berkeley delivered the sermon at the St. George Presbyterian church services last night, taking as his topic "Knocking at the Door." Special solos were sung by Lucien Kneeland.

The services at St. George Presbyterian church will continue throughout the week and a surprise speaker will deliver the sermon tonight. Duets will be sung by Marjory and Evelyn Bengtson.

Services For Late Lorenz Capion

Services for Lorenz Capion, 87, 5932 Ocean View Drive, Oakland, were held yesterday afternoon from the Wilson & Kratzer mortuary. The remains were cremated in California crematory.

The deceased had been a resident of Oakland for 40 years and was a native of Denmark. He is survived by four children.

A. A. Smith, vice-president of the Union Tank company, inspected the company's properties here yesterday. Smith is from Chicago.

Plate Inserted In Broken Leg

F. M. Lease, El Cerrito, who sustained a broken leg in a dirt slide several weeks ago while working on the foundation for the new Richmond Commercial and Savings bank, underwent an operation at the Berkeley General hospital recently. A plate was inserted in his leg to strengthen the point where the bone was shattered.
